CONTENTS

No. 1 JULY, 1945

PAUL L. PAVCEK, EDWARD J. HERBST AND C. A. ELVEHJEM. The nutritional value of telang livers. Two figures 1

R. K. ANDERSON AND D. F. MILAM. Biomicroscopy of the eyes in evaluation of nutritional status. Conjunctival changes 11

R. K. ANDERSON AND D. F. MILAM. Biomicroscopy of the eyes in evaluation of nutritional status. Corneal vascularization 17

HERBERT P. SARETT AND VERNON H. CHELDELIN. Thiamine, riboflavin and nicotinic acid retention in preparation of overseas hams and bacons 25

LOUISE DANIEL AND L. C. NORRIS. The riboflavin, niacin and thiamine content of dried leguminous seeds 31

D. M. HEGSTED AND F. J. STARE. Nutritional studies with the duck. I. Purified rations for the duck. Three figures 37

JACK M. COOPERMAN, HARRY A. WAISMAN, KEITH B. MCCALL AND C. A. ELVEHJEM. Studies on the requirements of the monkey for riboflavin and a new factor found in liver. Three figures 45

No. 2 AUGUST, 1945

A. W. HALVERSON, JAMES H. SHAW AND E. B. HART. Goiter studies with the rat. One plate (six figures) 59

DANIEL MELNICK, MELVIN HOCHBERG AND BERNARD L. OSER. Physiological availability of the vitamins. I. The human bioassay technic. One figure 67

DANIEL MELNICK, MELVIN HOCHBERG AND BERNARD L. OSER. Phyiological availability of the vitamins. II. The effect of dietary thiaminase in fish products 81

KATHERYN E. LANGWILL, C. C. KING AND GRACE MACLEOD. Effects of food intake and anoxia upon ascorbic acid excretion, acidity of urine and survival of male albino rats 99

A. O. SEELER AND R. H. SILBER. Studies on the prolonged maintenance of adult dogs on purified diets 111

ROBERT R. SPITZER AND PAUL H. PHILLIPS. The availability of soybean oil meal phosphorus for the rat. Two figures 117

W. W. Westerfeld and E. A. Doisy, Jr. Alcohol metabolism as related to the production of thiamine deficiency 127

Aline Underhill Orten and James M. Orten. A study of hemoglobin formation following the administration of certain amino acids to rats fed a diet low in protein 137

James H. Jones. Experimental rickets in the hamster 143

L. P. Zialcita, Jr. and H. H. Mitchell. The effect of fat upon the utilization of galactose by the rat 147

No. 3 SEPTEMBER, 1945

Luther R. Richardson, Albert G. Hogan and Harry L. Kempster. The requirement of the turkey poult for vitamin B_6. One figure 151

Lillian S. Bentley and Agnes Fay Morgan. Vitamin A and carotene in the nutrition of the guinea pig. One figure 159

J. L. Henderson, E. L. Jack, Samuel Lepkovsky and Della F. Reid. Nutritional studies on milk fat. I. The growth of young rats fed milk fat and certain synthetic glycerides as supplements to a fat-free diet. Two figures 169

E. L. Jack, J. L. Henderson, Della F. Reid and Samuel Lepkovsky. Nutritional studies on milk fat. II. The growth of young rats fed glyceride fractions separated from milk fat. One figure 175

Robert R. Spitzer and Paul H. Phillips. Enzymatic relationships in the utilization of soybean oil meal phosphorus by the rat. Two figures 183

Melvin Hochberg, Daniel Melnick and Bernard L. Oser. Physiological availability of the vitamins. III. The effect of dietary ascorbic acid oxidase 193

Melvin Hochberg, Daniel Melnick and Bernard L. Oser. Physiological availability of the vitamins. IV. The inefficiency of live yeast as a source of thiamine 201

Robert John Evans and J. L. St. John. Estimation of the relative nutritive value of vegetable proteins by two chemical methods 209

T. H. Jukes, J. J. Oleson and A. C. Dornbush. Observations on monomethylaminoethanol and dimethylaminoethanol in the diet of chicks 219

No. 4 OCTOBER, 1945

Melvin Hochberg, Daniel Melnick and Bernard L. Oser. Physiological availability of the vitamins. V. The effect of copper on extra dietary ascorbic acid 225

Daniel Melnick, Melvin Hochberg and Bernard L. Oser. Physiological availability of the vitamins. VI. The effect of adsorbents on thiamine 233

CHARLES A. SLANETZ AND ALBERT SCHARF. Effect of soybean phosphatides on vitamin A metabolism. Two figures 239

C. W. HUGHES AND S. M. HAUGE. Nutrition value of distillers' dried solubles as a source of protein 245

ELLEN KEMP WATSON, ELINOR WHELAN MCGUIRE, FRIEDA L. MEYER AND MILICENT L. HATHAWAY. Calcium metabolism of preschool children ... 259

MILDRED BRICKER, H. H. MITCHELL AND GLADYS M. KINSMAN. The protein requirements of adult human subjects in terms of the protein contained in individual foods and food combinations. One figure 269

OLIVER H. LOWRY AND OTTO A. BESSEY. The effects of light, trauma, riboflavin, and ariboflavinosis on the production of corneal vascularity and on healing of corneal lesions 285

SMITH FREEMAN AND MARIE W. BURRILL. Comparative effectiveness of various iron compounds in promoting iron retention and hemoglobin regeneration by anemic rats 293

No. 5 NOVEMBER, 1945

THEODORE F. ZUCKER, BENJAMIN N. BERG AND LOIS M. ZUCKER. Nutritional effects on the gastric mucosa of the rat. I. Lesions of the antrum. Five figures 301

THEODORE F. ZUCKER, BENJAMIN N. BERG AND LOIS M. ZUCKER. Nutritional effects on the gastric mucosa of the rat. II. Lesions of the fundus and rumen. Three figures 319

HOWARD F. ROOT AND THORNE M. CARPENTER. The effects of the dietary supply of carbohydrate upon the response of the human respiratory quotient after glucose administration 333

H. L. CAMPBELL, MADELINE UDILJAK, HELEN YARMOLINSKY AND H. C. SHERMAN. Bodily storage of vitamin A in relation to diet and age, studied by the assay method of single feedings 343

ANNE B. CALDWELL, GRACE MACLEOD AND H. C. SHERMAN. Bodily storage of vitamin A in relation to diet and age studied by means of the antimony trichloride reaction using a photoelectric colorimeter 349

EVA R. HARTZLER. The availability of ascorbic acid in papayas and guavas. Two figures 355

D. M. HEGSTED AND M. N. RAO. Nutritional studies with the duck. II. Pyridoxine deficiency. One figure 367

NEVIN S. SCRIMSHAW, F. B. HUTT AND MARY W. SCRIMSHAW, with the assistance of C. R. Sullivan. The effect of genetic variation in the fowl on the thiamine content of the egg 375

BERNARD L. OSER AND DANIEL MELNICK. Physiological availability to the rat of crude carotene in vegetables 385

Mead Johnson and Company 'B-complex' award 391

Borden award in nutrition 393

No. 6 DECEMBER, 1945

MAXWELL M. WINTROBE, HAROLD J. STEIN, R. H. FOLLIS, JR. AND STEWART HUMPHREYS. Nicotinic acid and the level of protein intake in the nutrition of the pig. Three figures 395

J. T. REID, C. F. HUFFMAN AND C. W. DUNCAN. The therapeutic effect of yeast and pyridoxine on poikilocytosis in dairy cattle 413

G. FRED SOMERS, KARL C. HAMNER AND WALTER L. NELSON. Field illumination and commercial handling as factors in determining the ascorbic acid content of tomatoes received at the cannery 425

WILLARD B. ROBINSON, ELMER STOTZ AND Z. I. KERTESZ. The effect of manufacturing methods on the ascorbic acid content and consistency characteristics of tomato juice 435

IRENE ROSENFELD AND O. A. BEATH. The elimination and distribution of selenium in the tissues in experimental selenium poisoning 443

LOUIS J. POLSKIN, BENJAMIN KRAMER AND ALBERT E. SOBEL. Secretion of vitamin D in milks of women fed fish liver oil 451

J. M. LEWIS AND LOGAN T. WILSON. Vitamin A requirements in calves. Two figures 467

J. T. REID AND J. F. SYKES. The influence of ascorbic acid on the activity of gonadotropic hormones in guinea pigs 477

CAREY D. MILLER AND LUCILLE LOUIS. The availability of the iron in Hawaiian-grown vegetables. One figure 485

Borden award in nutrition 495

Mead Johnson and Company 'B-complex' award 496
